Eureka, Humboldt Co, P O, an incorporated city and county seat. It is situated on the east side of Humboldt Bay, occupying a pleasant site, two miles from the beach, and overlooking the waters of the bay and out upon the ocean. This is the largest and most important town on the northern coast of California, with a large export trade in lumber and agricultural products, receiving in return the various articles of merchandise necessary for the supply of a prosperous section. The town was laid out in 1850, and has continued growing healthily and steadily. It boasts superiority in respect to schools and churches, having four departments to the public school, a large and well-conducted seminary for young ladies, and also an institution of learning under the auspices of the Catholic society of "The Precious Blood of Jesus." Four churches grace the city with elegant edifices. Besides these, as buildings worthy of note, are the Court House, Town Hall, Masonic Hall, Odd Fellows' Hall, and Eureka Opera House. Communication is maintained with Kohnerville, Hydesville, Ferndale, and Arcata, by daily lines of stages; with Arcata and Hookton by steamer, daily, and with San Francisco by steamer and telegraph. Two weekly newspapers, the Times and West Coast Signal, are published here.

Officers: T. Walsh, Mayor; J. Clark, J. Freese, A. Cookson, F. A. Weck, Allen McKay, Councilmen; J. A. Huestis, Clerk; James Hannah, Attorney; D. Vansant, Marshal; D. C. Scott, Judge.
