Napa County. Organized in 1850. Bounded north by Luke, northeast and east by Yolo and Solano, south by Solano, and west by Sonoma. Area, 928 square miles. Assessed valuation of property in 1874, $8,028,834. County seat, Napa. Principal towns, Calistoga, Monticello, Silverado, St Helena and Yountville. Resources, agricultural and mineral, the former greatly predominating; but recent developments of silver, gold, quicksilver, medicinal springs and other minerals, indicate that the latter interest will rival, if it does not surpass, the former in the employment of capital and value of products. The county is composed of valley and mountain, the first lovely and fertile, the other rugged, interesting and singular in geological formation. The principal valley gives its name to the county, and extends, with slight interruptions, from San Pablo Bay, or the estuary of Napa creek, to Calistoga, a distance of forty miles, and has a
