

District Attorney; B. F. Ross, Sheriff and Tax Collector; Thomas McMahon, Treasurer; Haden Dowdy, Assessor; F. P. McCray, Surveyor; J. M. Black, Coroner and Public Administrator; H. Z. Morris, Superintendent Public Schools.

Byrno Mathew, general merchandise and insurance agent, cor Third and Utah
 Caro L, gen mdse and lumber dealer, Third
 Cochran A H, physician, Peacock's Building
 Condeo A, physician, Keltlog's Block
 Conner H, general merchandise and wines and liquors, cor Grafton and Third
 Conroy F, attorney at law and real estate agent, Boren's Block
 Cook F A, photographer, Peacock's Building
 Cornman W R, feed stable, Utah
 Corwin W S Rev, clergyman (Meth)
 Cox & Barks, dry goods, groceries and provisions, Third
 Craig Joseph, assayer and gunsmith, Third
 Crolik William, merchant tailor, Third
 Curtis W J, attorney at law, Keltlog's Block
 Davis K A Mrs, millinery and dress maker, Third
 Emich Charles N, stoves, hardware, tinware, and agricultural implements, Third
 Fleming & Rose, real estate agents, Ruffen's Bldg
 Fox W R, physician, Keltlog's Block
 Foy John M, harness and saddlery, and insurance agent, Third
 Garners M B, butcher, Third
 GOULD W H, proprietor San Bernardino Argus, cor Third and Utah
 Gould & Goodwin, real estate agents, Third
 Hale N B, watch maker and jeweler, Third
 Haswell & Pearson, attorneys at law, and land agents, Utah
 Hawley William, liquor saloon, Third
 Hartshorn D W, physician, Third
 Heringhi Edward, jewelry and fancy goods, and agent Wheeler and Wilson's Sewing Machines, Third
 Hicks G H, teacher, Utah
 Horowitz A & Co, general merchandise, Third
 Hughes J H, agent California and Arizona Stage Co.
 Jackson Simon, groceries and provisions, Third
 Jacoby A, fruits, Third
 KATZ MARCUS, feed stable, Third
 KEARNEY ARTHUR, proprietor San Bernardino Guardian, Third
 Keltlog J A, liquor saloon, Third
 Kenniston & Brazelton, livery stable, Third
 King R H, harness and saddlery, Third
 Klinich G, jewelry, Third
 Koch John C Albert, physician, Third
 Kurtz C, bakery and confectionery, Third
 Lawson Brothers, assayers, and cigars and tobacco, Utah
 Levy Isaac H, real estate agent, Third
 Levy J H, dry goods and groceries, Third
 Linville W J, planing mill
 Matthews B F, grain dealer and justice of the peace, Third
 McCall John, blacksmith, Utah
 McDonald William, furniture and bedding, Third
 Moe Sydney, boots and shoes, Third
 Meyer & Lindner, restaurant, Third
 MEYERSTEIN & CO, bankers and gen mdse, cor Fourth and Utah
 Migel L, boots, shoes, crockery, etc, Third
 Miller John, proprietor Bella Union Hotel, cor Fourth and Utah
 Miner L, butcher, Third
 Montgomery J W, physician, Third
 Moore George E, liquor saloon, Third
 Morgan J W, liquor saloon, Third
 Mowbray - watches and jewelry
 Newmark H & Co, wholesale groceries and hardware
 O'Connell J P, groceries and liquors, Utah
 O'Neil John, veterinary surgeon, Third
 Oliver H, dry goods and groceries, Fourth
 Paipre C R, principal High School, cor Fourth and Grafton
 Paris, Bledsoe & Goodcoll, attorneys at law, and real estate agents, Anderson Block
 PEACOCK JAMES C, postmaster, physician, drugs, books, dry goods, etc, and agent Home Sewing Machines, Third
 Perria F T, civil engineer, and U S mineral surveyor,
 PERRIS & ISAAC, proprietors San Bernardino Advertiser
 Prentise II, brieklayer and contractor, Anderson Block
 Powell J G, dentist, Third
 Rene G A, physician, Third

ATNA INSURANCE COMPANY, of Hartford, has been identified with every large fire in the country.

San Bernardino, San Bernardino Co, P O and county seat, occupies a lovely and romantic position on a high plain, five miles north of the Santa Ana River, at the base of the San Bernardino mountains, where several rapid and sparkling streams debouch upon the plain, making their way to the Santa Ana, the principal river of the valley. The site was selected and settled upon by the Moros in 1817, it being near the Cajon Pass in the mountains, through which went the old "Spanish trail" connecting New Mexico with California in former times, and over which an extensive trade with Utah and Montana has been carried on until the advent of the Pacific Railroad. The town was laid out on the same plan as Salt Lake City, in large blocks, making a homestead for a family, wide streets and irrigating canals running through all. Trees were planted and gardens and vineyards cultivated, which in their maturity, at the present day, give a rural beauty to the place, and constitute a source of comfort, luxury and profit to the owners. The public buildings and residences are simply built, being more for use than for ornament, but indicate comfort and independence, and improvements are constantly going on as the place advances in business and wealth. San Bernardino lies on the great routes southeastward and into the desert region of the interior basin. Here center the roads leading through the Cajon Pass to the mining regions of Panamint, Death Valley, Hualapa and the upper Colorado; also from the mining district of Holcomb Valley, and through the San Geronimo Pass from La Paz, Prescott, Yuma and the East; and the traveler over either of the roads welcomes the pleasant town with its verdant surroundings, its refreshing atmosphere and its pure, sparkling river, in vivid contrast to the dreary waste of burning sand he has crossed, as the storm-beaten voyager of the sea welcomes his port of destination. These natural avenues concentrate trade and travel, and give a commercial importance and a permanency to the city. The route of the Southern Pacific Railroad is surveyed through the town leading onward via the San Geronimo Pass to the Colorado at Fort Yuma. This road is now completed from Los Angeles, 160 miles distant, to near the town, and it is expected that before 1876, the cars will be running to the great desert. Another line has been surveyed from San Diego and some work of grading accomplished. The population is estimated at upwards of 3,500, and is increasing. Three newspapers are published, the Guardian (daily and weekly), and the Argus and Advertiser (weekly).

Allen Thomas, butcher, Third
 ALLEN & DREW, drugs and medicines, and agents Pacific Rubber Paint Co, Third
 Amandell -, general merchandise
 Ames A J, dry goods, groceries and provisions, Fourth
 Ames E, groceries, provisions, clothing, Fourth
 Ancker L & Co, general merchandise, Third
 Anderson John, brewery, cor Third and Salt Lake Bank of San Bernardino, Lewis Jacobs, president, C. Meyerstein, cashier, Fourth
 Barnum Samuel, blacksmith, Third
 Berge Samuel, books, newspapers, music, etc
 Berringer John, liquor saloon, Third
 Blanche C, fruits, nuts and candies, Third
 Bledsoe N C, notary public and collector, Anderson Block
 BLOW R T, agent Wolls, Fargo & Co, and California Insurance Co, Third
 Boren A D, real estate broker, Boren's Block
 Boren B C, dry goods, clothing, crockery, Fourth
 BOREN W A, watch maker, cigars, and agent W U Telegraph Co, Fourth
 Bowland & Craig, drugs, books, stationery, pianos, and agents Gilroy Tobacco Co, Third
 Braunhart B, groceries and provisions, Third nr Grafton
 Bright & Van Dorin, blacksmiths and wagon makers, Third
 Brinkmeyer H, liquor saloon, Third
 Brooks D W, contractor and builder
 Brown John J, notary public and conveyancer, Third
 BRUNN & SHERWIN, propts Starke's Hotel, cor Third and Grafton
 Butler E. Rev, clergyman (Meth) Fifth