

The Book ^{OF} _{THE} Fair

This is A Reproduction of the Columbian Exposition Entire

so far as is possible in 1,000 Imperial Folio Pages, consisting of 3,000 Beautiful Illustrations with clear terse text.

ALL agree that this International display is the greatest of its kind, and the greatest that this age will probably witness. As a means of the highest entertainment and instruction, the best book descriptive of this Exposition should be in every household. In no other way can the present and future generations see and learn so much of what man has done and can do,

The Book being in this respect Better than the Fair Itself

The visitor at the Fair sees so much, and in such a way as to become bewildered, the mind retaining comparatively little ; but the book may be ever at hand, yielding daily the greatest pleasure and profit.
