

HOTEL METROPOLE

OAKLAND

Although right in the heart of the commercial, shopping and amusement center of Oakland, within the closest walking distance of every theater, store and office of any importance in this city, the Metropole is, at the same time, upon a quiet corner with no clanging street cars passing the door and no hurrying of wagons and dust and dirt and grime of traffic to disturb the guests.

The Metropole is on 13th street within three blocks of Broadway, cars run upon 12th and 14th streets but none pass to annoy the guests of the Metropole.

Merchants find it convenient here to inspect the samples of traveling men, business men find it handy for engagements, tourists find it advantageous as headquarters for all side trips while permanent guests find it easy of access to office, theater and store.

The Metropole is the place to recommend to your friends—it is the place where they'll enjoy most real comfort—where they'll have the most advantages of location, where they'll meet good people and where they'll enjoy every minute of their stay, every meal, every attention that a careful, painstaking management can give them.

So recommend the Metropole to those of your friends about to visit Oakland. We'll take good care of them and they'll thank you for sending them here.
