

W. O'DONNELL'S

Pleasure Park

AND

NURSERIES

532 WILLIAM STREET,

SAN JOSE.

CALIFORNIA.

The above-named place is one of the most delightful resorts within the environs of the City, and most amply repays the visit of the tourist. The grounds are a model of landscape gardening; shady nooks, leafy bowers, cool grottos, foliage-canopied promenades, elegant summer houses and pavilions, greet the loiterer at every step. Flowers of every hue, form and odor, arrest the eye and gratify the senses; while here a long avenue with stately files of tree sentinels, is in pleasing contrast with the various knolls, overtopped with the crowded foliage of a miniature forest. Mr. O'Donnell is adding the attraction of a

ZOOLOGICAL COLLECTION

To the present features of the place, and will soon have a complete Menagerie, combining

WILD ANIMALS FROM ALL PORTIONS OF THE GLOBE

Anything which can be devised, promising amusement for visitors, will be introduced at once, and the management promises to use every exertion to add to the attractiveness of the place.