THE TRUE CALIFORNIAN,

As its name imports, was established in 1856, for the purpose of more prominently bringing forward the peculiar interests of California, as contra-distinguished from those of the Eastern States.

Particular attention was thought to be requisite in order to develop her great mineral, agricultural and commercial wealth; and it was deemed by the founders of the paper incompatible with this object, to take sides on any of the political questions of the day. Hence the tone, spirit and aim of the paper is independent of all factions, cliques and parties, and a devotion to California and her resources.
