

$45,000 has been expended in its erection, and about $100,000 in support of its inmates. It is in a complete and exact sense a public charity, openly inviting the homeless from all portions of the States of California and Nevada, to share in its beneficences. It derives its name from the fact of its erection by the Good Templars and its support by that Order. It is also under the control of the Grand Lodge of the Order, but its title is not meant to convey any idea of exclusiveness as to the class admitted to its sheltering offices. To be a homeless orphan is the only passport required at its portals. In connection with this society, and sustained by them, are Bands of Hope, composed of children under twelve years of age, who are supplied with rituals and badges free. These organizations now number in the State about eight thousand children.

Five out of the nine Trustees of the Home are elected from the Dashaways, the remaining four being chosen by these five from citizens outside of the Association.
