CONSUMERS' ICE COMPANY,

420 EIGHTH ST.,

SAN FRANCISCO CAL.

This ice is made from distilled artesian well water, clear as crystal, and entirely free from the dangerous matter frequently contained in water from streams and ponds. Distilled Ice is now in general use throughout the principal cities of the world, even where Ice Palaces are common, on account of its absolute purity and security against the dangerous zymotic diseases, and commands at least two dollars per ton more than other ice.

It is in regular block form—more dense, packs closer, keeps longer, and is much better adapted for refrigerating and shipping purposes than common ice.

On account of the desirability of this article and the limited output, priority of orders may alone secure a supply.

The rates of this company will be uniform to all persons within a reasonable distance and altitude for like quantities, and should the rates be reduced, by competition or otherwise, all consumers will benefit pro rata in the reduction.
