Its objects are to encourage temperance and total abstinence among Catholic men and boys. The members of the junior branches are pledged to total abstinence until reaching the age of twenty-one. The members of the senior branches are of two classes: First, those who are pledged to total abstinence, and second, those who while not pledged to total abstinence promise "not to drink in a saloon or place where liquors are sold, never to send a child to such a place, not to treat or be treated therein, and to discourage the custom of drinking in saloons." To hold the larger boys in the League, a new and interesting feature was added in 1893. The First Regiment, League of the Cross Cadets, was organized by Col. W. P. Sullivan, Jr., in conjunction with Right Rev. Bishop Montgomery. The government is vested in the Executive Committee, consisting of Most Rev. P. W. Riordan, Archbishop of San Francisco; Rev.
