FEW kinds of merchandise, if any, admit of as much deception as furs.

By various processes of shearing, blending, and dyeing, skins of inferior sorts are manipulated

FUR FACTS FOR FUR BUYERS

in such a manner to imitate

rare and costly kinds. If your knowledge of furs is limited and you must depend on the representations of the dealer, it is absolutely essential that you trade only with houses of unquestioned reputation for fair and honorable dealing, in whom you can place implicit confidence.

We boast of nothing, yet cannot refrain from pointing with pride to our long record of having satisfied San Francisco's most critical women of taste and fashion with our goods and prices.

The magnificent increase in our business from year to year is a stronger testimonial than any self eulogy in which we might indulge. We are manufacturers and eliminate the jobber's, wholesaler's and retailer's profits from our prices.
