

FRENCH CAMP,

Five miles south of Stockton, is the oldest settlement in the county, except Stockton, the two places having been first occupied by white men at the same time, thirty odd years ago. It is on the line of the Central Pacific railroad, but being so near the city it has no connection with the road.

Belden W. S.

Hitchcock John.

McLellan W. F., proprietor French Camp Hotel.

Moss W. S.

Nelson H. A.

Stevenson Geo. A.

Umlauff L., dealer in groceries and provisions.

---

LATHROP,

Nine miles from Stockton, is an important railway station, being the point of junction of the San Joaquin Valley road with the Central Pacific, and the "feeding station" of both roads. The Lathrop Hotel is one of the finest on all of the lines of the railroad.

Buchanan J. M.

Clancy W. H.

Corona John.

Davis James.

Dilbos John, fruit dealer.

Dominique R.

French A. C., conductor on C. P. railroad.

Flannagan A., section foreman C. P. railroad.

Geraty Joseph, dealer in groceries.

Hopper Mrs. Mary, house owner.

Hamilton H. M., school teacher.

Houser William, proprietor Garibaldi saloon.

Jackson J. R.

Johnson Wm. B.