*How to make good telephone service
even better....*

Share a party line?

These easy pointers can help you and your party line neighbor enjoy even better telephone service: When you have a series of calls to make, allow a few minutes between them • Replace the receiver properly after calling • If you have a dial telephone, make sure the line is not in use before you dial • Ask the children to be considerate, too. You'll not only be a good telephone neighbor if you do . . .

but others will have a better chance to reach you!

LONG DISTANCE CALLS ARE FUN

Bet she just got a call from her husband who's out of town on a business trip. Or maybe someone far away has surprised her with a very thoughtful birthday present . . . a telephone visit.

Isn't it time you enjoyed a telephone visit with the folks back home . . . or the children who have moved away? Probably some favorite friends have birthdays or an anniversary coming up soon. Or . . . wouldn't it be fun to just "drop in" on that someone you've been thinking of—by telephone.

Long Distance calls are easy, you know. And the cost is low, as you'll see from the typical rates on the inside cover of this book.

Tonight . . . make that telephone visit. Long Distance calls are fun!
