The stage is set . . .

for a review of the events of 1968-69. You, the student body of Leigh High School, were the actors in this production and everyone's part was important, whether big or small. Many scenes were enacted on campus and off, and these we have tried to capture for you in the following pages.

And All The Men And Women

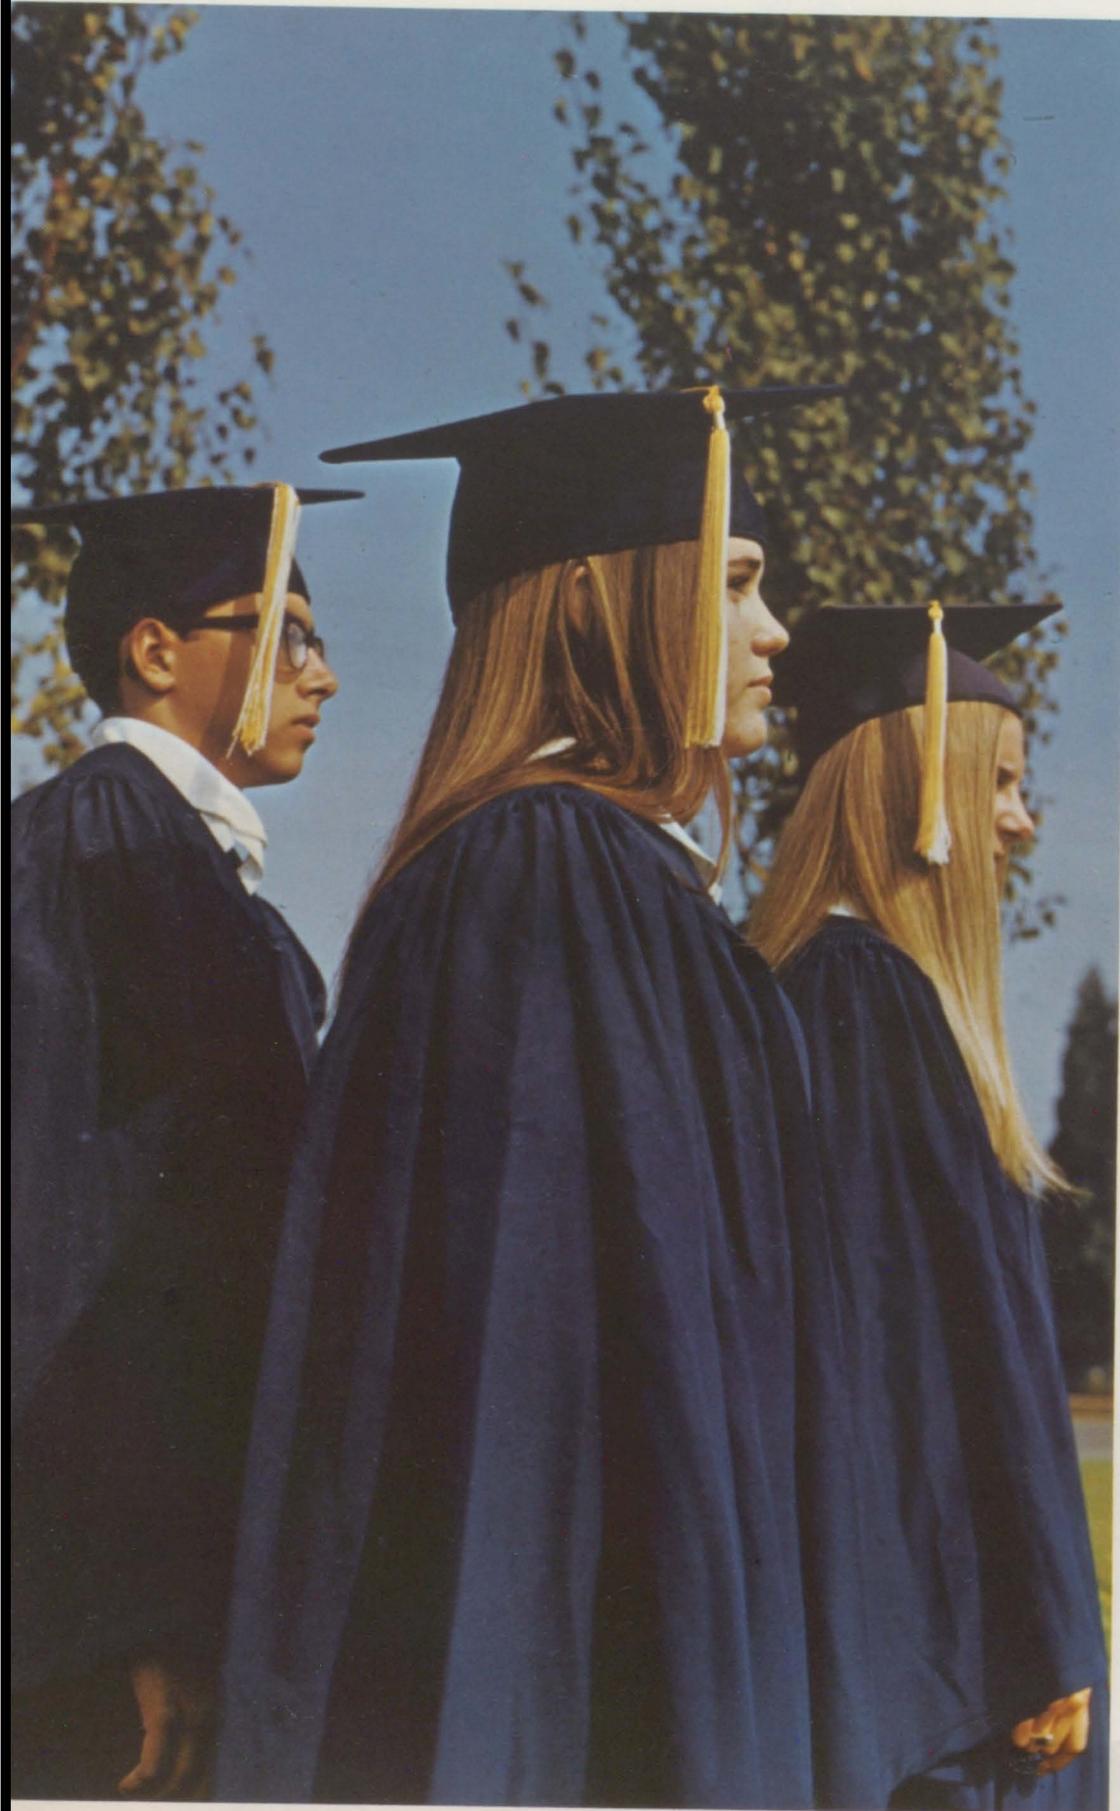

The player — a student at Leigh — finds his life a mass of action and participation. Whether vigorously supporting his team, or quietly conversing with friends before class, he contributes to the encompassing drama of school life.

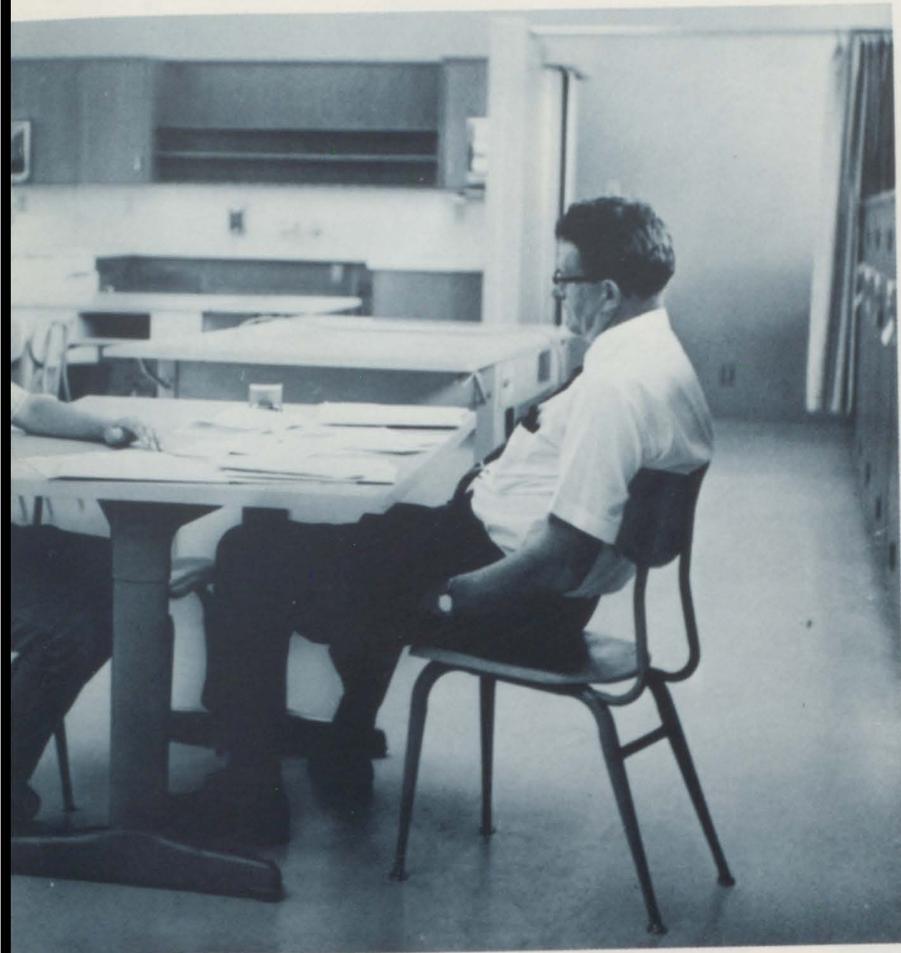

Merely Players . . .

They Have Their Exits And

Their Entrances . . .

Between his entrance as a shy, nervous freshman and his graduation as a confident, ambitious senior, the student encounters numerous stages in his process of maturing to an adult. Each year the setting of the student differs, for he achieves a new role. He meets new challenges and his attitudes and ideas change. He evolves. The new strangeness of his high school wears off, and is replaced by loyalty, enthusiasm, and a start at knowing and understanding this world and its inhabitants.

And One Man In His Time

Plays Many Parts . . .

Throughout his life, each person becomes an integral part of an everchanging world. He must change roles rapidly, and adopt new parts readily. Each day, every hour, the student becomes involved in a different environment. One moment he ponders a creative idea — the blueprint of a dream. Next, he can argue the merits of a democratic system. He may also find himself creator of an artful work, or a participant who blends his voice with others to produce harmony.

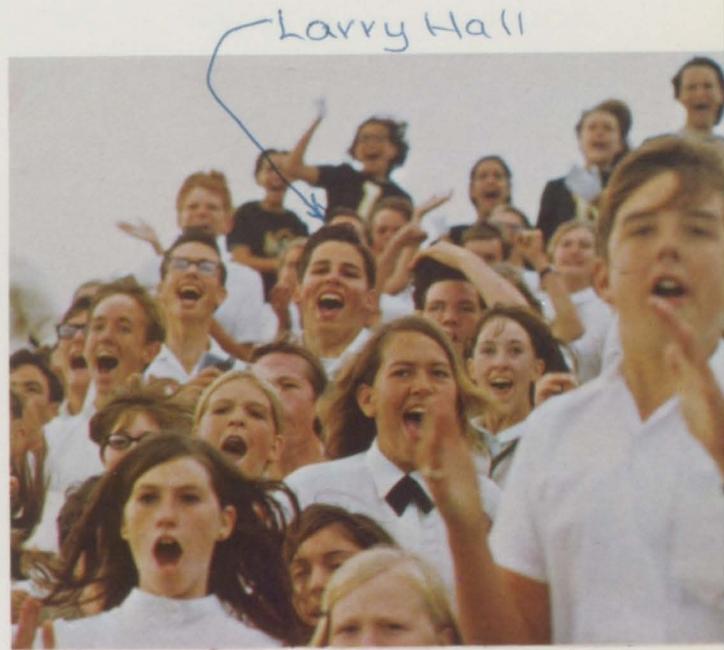

Wherever he is, whatever he does, he learns to become a part of many worlds. Working and dreaming, listening to traditions and ideas, yet developing new perspectives, the individual emerges as a unique entity.

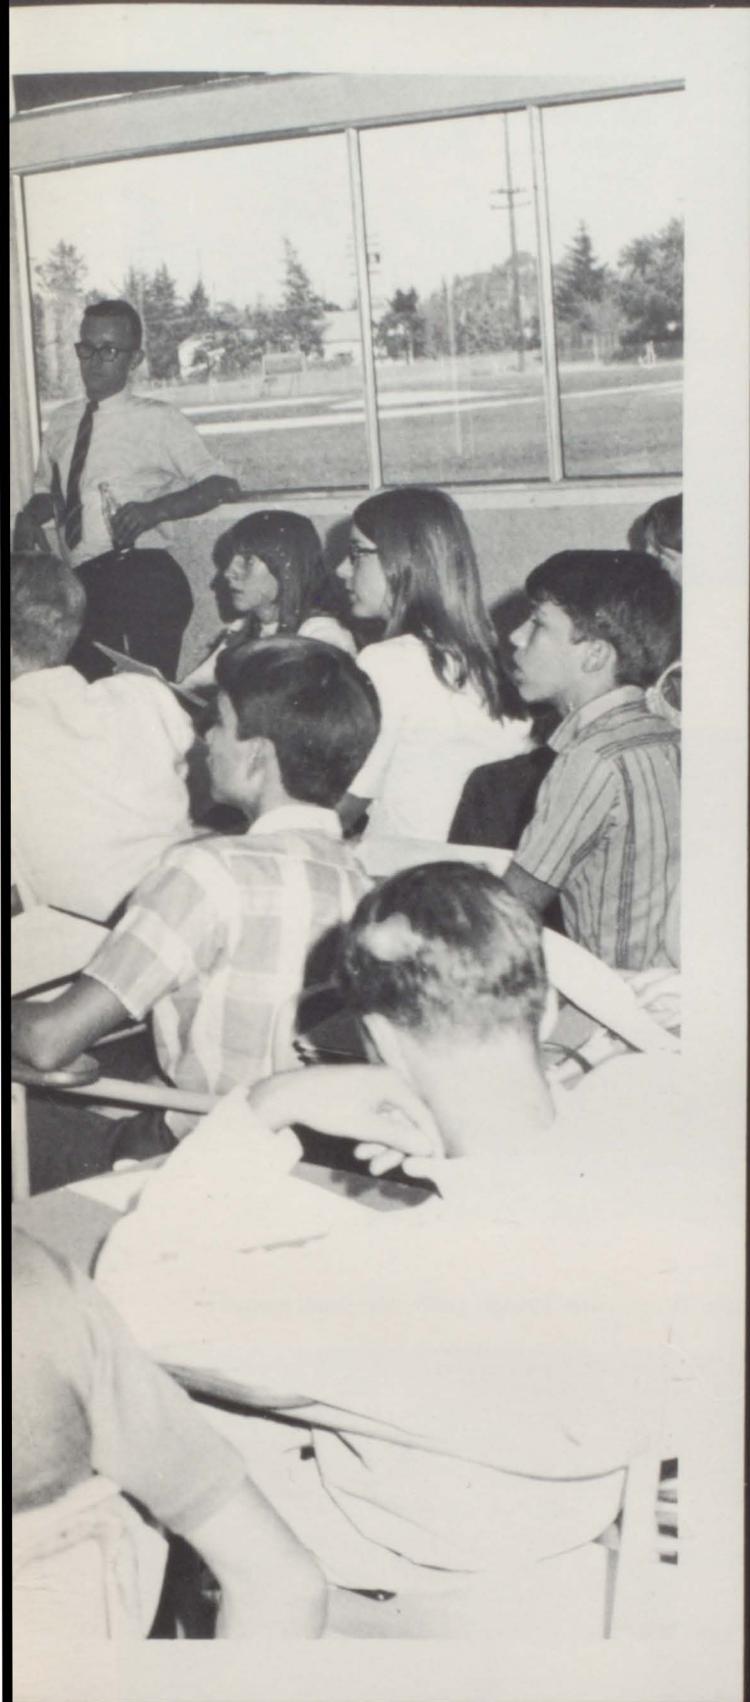

Leigh Is Our Stage . . .

We Are The Players.

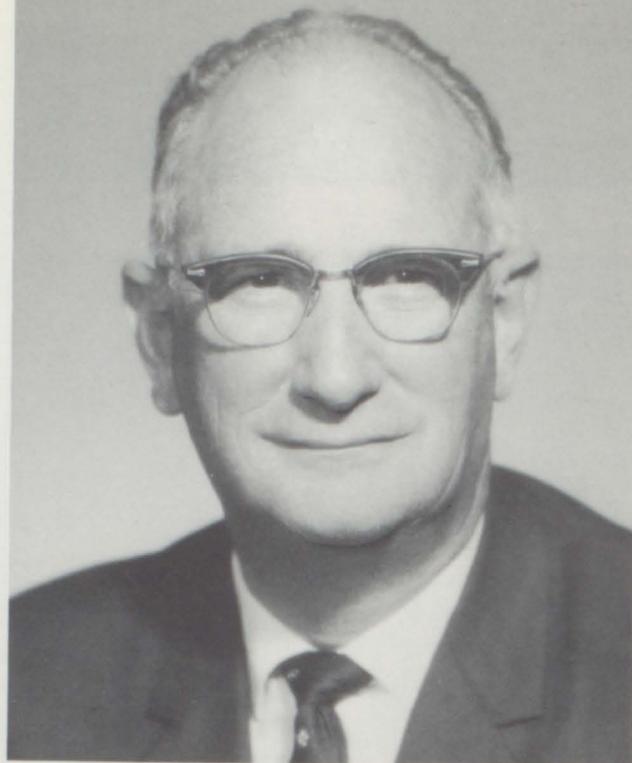

Administration And Faculty

Ignorance is the most outstanding obstacle to overcome as one stands on the brink of his most productive years. The wisdom, patience, and knowledge of the Leigh faculty has combined to develop well-educated young adults in these early years — the prologue to their lives.

May I congratulate you on this fine yearbook, both personally and in behalf of the Board of Trustees. In the twenty-three years I have been superintendent of the district, it has been my privilege to assist thousands of students play their part on the stage of their school life. While I am looking forward to my retirement this summer, and the assuming of a new role, I shall always have a special place in my heart for students as they graduate from their high school years to new challenges.

Sincerely,

Laurence J. Hill

The evidence of your excellent achievements in scholarship and the many extra-curricular activities is presented in this yearbook. You should be justly proud of the enthusiastic spirit and accomplishments recorded here.

LEIGH

ACTIVITIES

Social events throughout the year lend variation and enjoyment to the life of the student. At games, he can witness the spectacle of the confrontation of skilled competitors. Rallies give him the opportunity to watch the performance of skits and other dramatic productions give him a chance to partake in the world of fine arts. Whether an active player or a member of the audience at these events, his presence contributes to their success.

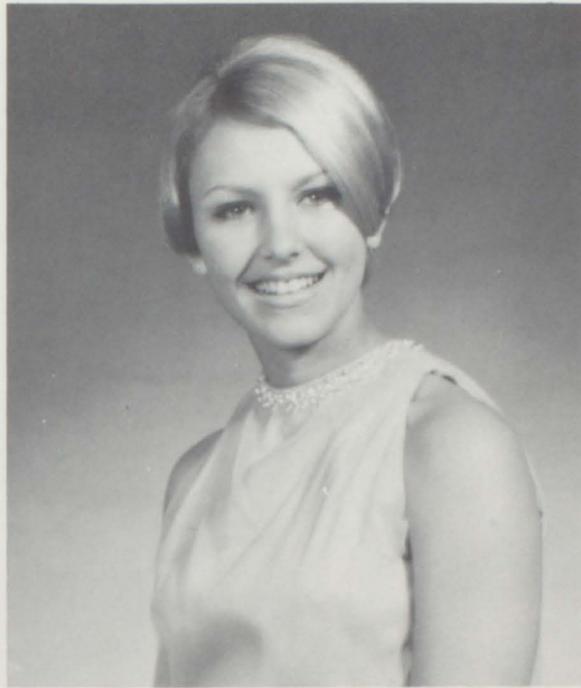

LEIGH PARADES ITS BEST

The highlight of our football season was the homecoming game. Our hopes ran high along with our excitement, but ours could not be compared with the feelings of our Queen, Diane Hogan.

Princess: Kathy Ulstad.

ORGANIZATIONS

Numerous commissions at Leigh offer students the opportunity to do service to the school and community. Clubs provide the means for those who share special interests to pursue them in a group. The effort of each individual member of the organization plays an important part in the overall achievements of the group.

Fall Council

As a senior I can see what has been happening to Leigh in the past few years. The atmosphere has changed considerably. At one time the major emphasis at school was the winning of the spirit trophy. Now the trophy has lost some importance to another purpose of high school; getting an education. There was an overwhelming response to the "Soul Session" put on by the minority groups of Leigh. There was much enthusiasm for a student exchange with another high school. The emphasis has changed to this type of education, because the students realized that sports and class competition are not the only aspects of high school.

This change is good for everyone. Now the students who work on Collage, participate in debates and speeches, and receive awards in their field are being recognized, because the students realize their importance. I congratulate all those who recognize these people and I hope this type of "spirit" continues.

Sincerely, Dan Park

Spring Council

Our exultation in the pursuit of knowledge, wisdom, and justice is part of the tradition handed to each of us by Leigh High School. The years at Leigh are far more than a preparation for a vague tomorrow. We have learned in our day-to-day studies skills and a sense of value which we shall need to solve problems.

The personal achievement and contributions of each Leigh graduate as he progresses through life will always be a tribute to Leigh as he marches into the future toward a better and happier world for all men.

As Leigh's out-going president, I owe a personal debt of thanks to all for support and encouragement. To our faculty, I say with feeling, education makes us what we are and it helps us make an America which is tall in the eyes of the world. Words cannot adequately convey our gratitude to you.

Through its graduates today, Leigh High School is part of the future of tomorrow; may it continue forever.

Sincerely, Art Cabrera

SPORTS

During the year, these top athletes and others of Leigh High School combined to give Leigh its moments of glory, moments that will soon end. More important, they have learned valuable lessons — lessons that can make them leaders, who an achieve a sense of value in their lives. They have learned to “be a hero in the strife.”

Coach Galloni's Message

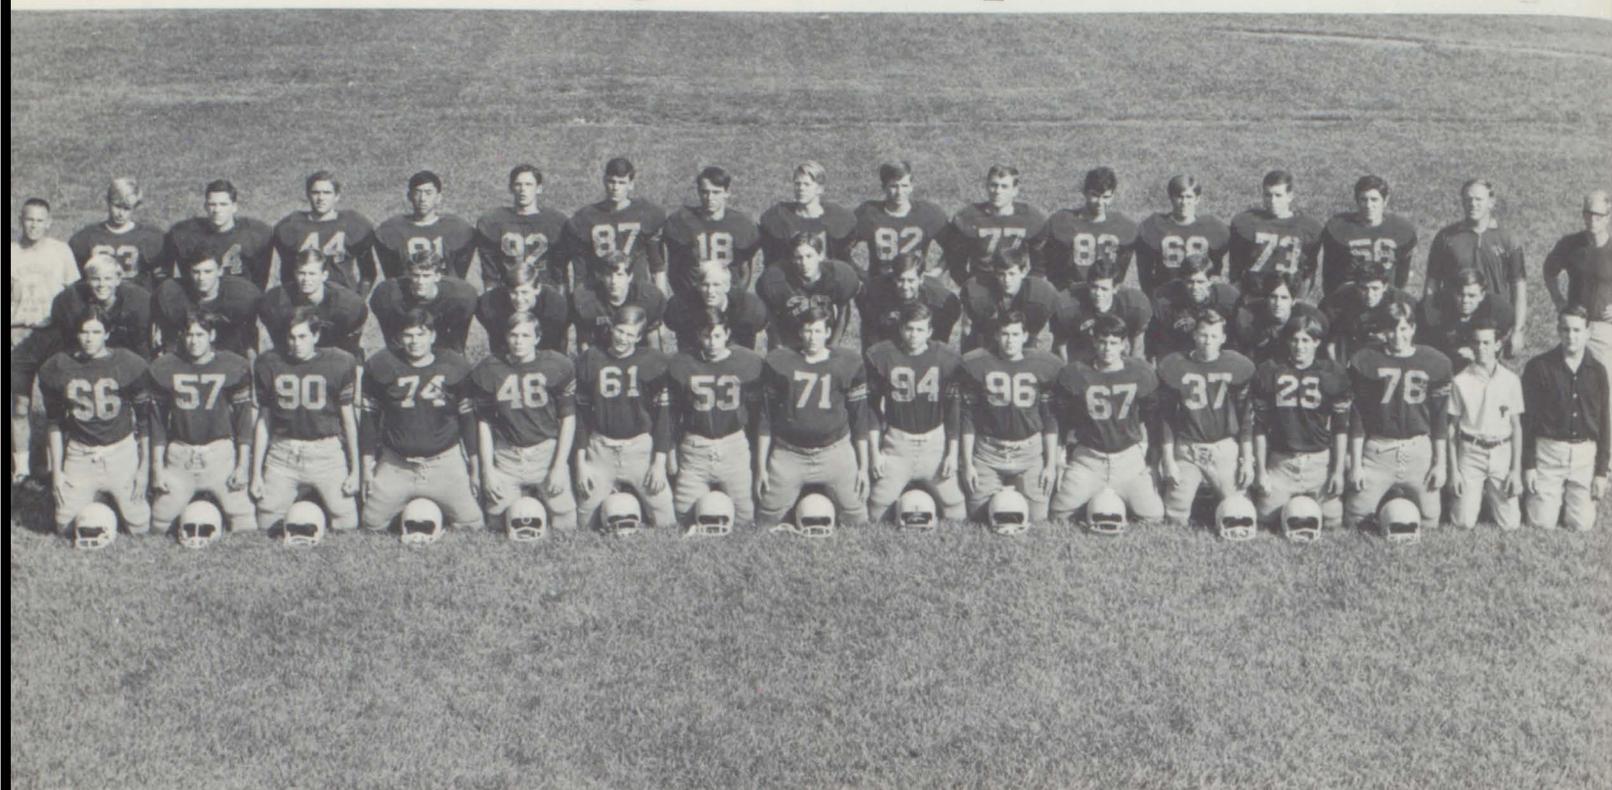

Victory during the 1968 campaign proved to be an elusive commodity. The true spirit of football; however, emerged from within the team week after week, as a young, inexperienced group of truly dedicated young men gave one hundred per cent of themselves to the cause of victory. The win-loss record is by no means indicative of the performances and efforts put forth by the Longhorn Varsity. With a few breaks along the way, our 3-7 record could easily have been reversed. Several of our seniors that will be surely missed in our building program of the future should be commended for their gallant efforts. This list includes Doug Oliver, Barry Himan, Greg Franz, Gary Graham, Gene Aso, Ben Hulet, Jim Knell, and Dave Edtl.

The future prospects for our football program look bright with the return of twenty two squad members from this years team. With the resolve that total dedication to our program is needed for future success, the burden falls on our underclassmen to meet their challenge with the same pride and spirited dedication they have shown in the past.

Cross Country

The Varsity team finished fourth in the league missing third by a single point. Jeff Hamilton ended the season as our number one man. He finished a very strong fourth in the league finals. Craig Bowen was our second man followed by Jim Rothlisberger, Barry Rowe, John Beeson and Jim Buser.

The Jr. Varsity team finished second in the league led by Mike Crawford, Pat Denevan, Bruce Hodgdon, John Myrtle, Chris Bacon, and Bruce Neuschwander.

mer and Mark Martin ran well but did not have much backing.

A fine freshman team started the season by winning the Sunnyvale Invitational and finished it by getting second in the league. Jack Bellah, and Jim Barch were outstanding; both runners were moved up to the varsity for the region meet and ran as our fourth and fifth men there. John Baker, Al Hedwell, Greg Orr were other strong runners.

This, my first year at Leigh High School, was an especially rewarding one. Many thanks to all those faculty, students and student-athletes who helped to make the season the success it became. I was happy to have had the privilege of contributing to the fine sports tradition that is so much a part of Leigh High School.

While many thought that Leigh would be around the 500 mark in League play, a group of young men proved the experts wrong, and by plenty of hard work, compiled a 12-6 League record — good for third place.

Special Honors went to:

Doug Oliver — first team. All League, seasons team captain, and teams' Most Inspirational Player.

Bill Scott — second team All-League, and teams' Most Valuable Player.

Steve Oliver — honorable mention All-League, and teams' Most Improved Player.

Sandy Mahin takes swimming highlight.

With swimming and tennis our first competitive activities of the year Girl's Sports got off to an enthusiastic start. The tennis team had a good league season with three wins three losses and one tie.

Our swimmers did not have quite the season they hoped for but we sent fifteen girls to finals with Joanne England placing sixth in the BIM, Terri Slater fourth in 50 yard breaststroke, Bonnie Blackwell eighth in 50 free, Jan Dorr third 25 free, Rosemarie Frame seventh in A25 fly. Our C free relay team placed second. The team came in seventh in the league. This year our biggest weakness was our lack of AA classification swimmers, the A's and B's were very strong and the C's held their own.

Second quarter was very exciting to both the basketball and hockey teams. Hockey had its finest season in three years with six wins and four losses. Leigh scored thirty-two goals against their opponents while only eighteen were scored against us. Our high scorers in hockey were Lynne Schwartzberg with eight goals, Kim Mostad with six goals, and Olivia Fritz with four goals.

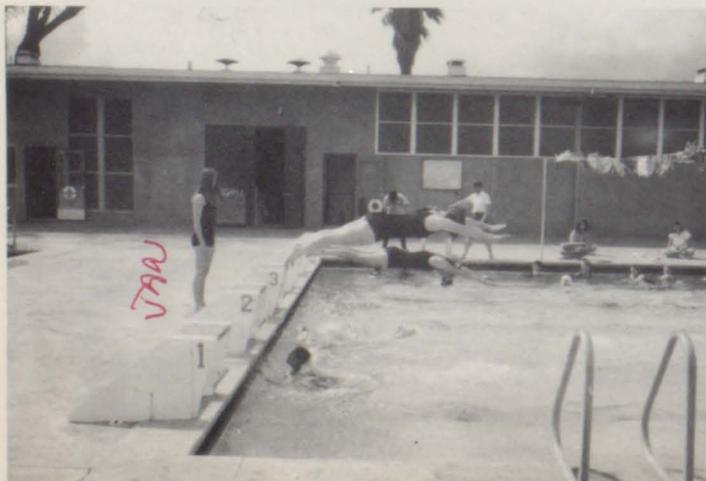

Basketball did very well this year. During finals the A and B teams combined to win first place in the league.

Volleyball and gymnastics got second semester off to a fast start. In gymnastic, Leigh participated in the balance beam, tumbling, and free exercise events. Patti Matzoll placed very high in beginning balance beam, Linda Frisch did well in the free exercise and Judy Fausett had an outstanding performance in tumbling.

Volleyball did well in its first match winning five out of six matches from Branham. From that point our wins and losses were even. Our A and B team made a very strong improvement placing third in league finals. We were also fortunate to have three girls earn Official ratings in volleyball. Each taking the National test, written and practical Sandy Bazuik, Olivia Fritz, and Linda Jamieson received their ratings.

Coming back from spring vacation and to a new quarter and new activities we started softball and badminton. In the finals the A doubles team placed second in league with the B's finishing very high.

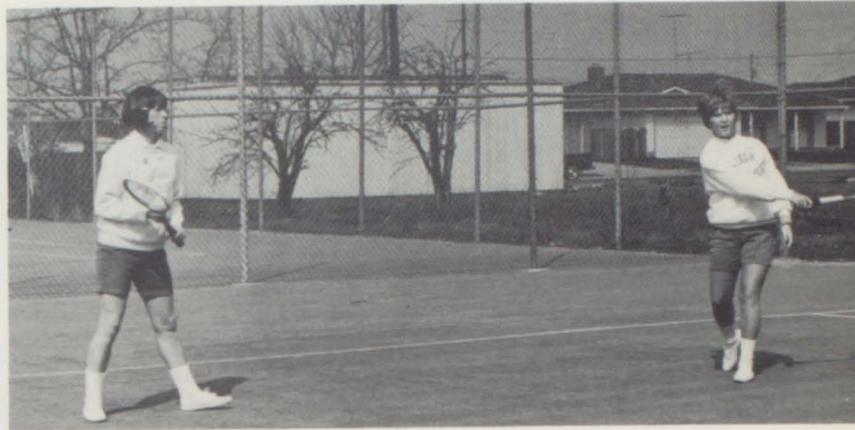

Softball did very well this year winning nine games and losing four. We finished the year taking second place in the league finals.

Countless people have contributed to the production of this book. Many have spent hours preparing these pages for their final printing. But the yearbook is not just a product of a few staff members and editors; rather, it is you, the students and people at Leigh. To you I offer my thanks for the loyalty you have shown, so necessary for the completion of a yearbook.

In particular I would like to thank Miss Green, our advisor, who spent many hours each week working with us, and without whose imagination and creativity we could not have produced this book.

Mr. Deis, photo commission advisor, and all the photo commission members gave freely of their time and patience to take and print the hundreds of pictures which were needed. Our special thanks to Bill Perez and Tony Alvarez who spent several weekends working in the Photo Lab so that the staff might meet their deadlines.

Both Mr. Fowler, our Principal, and Mrs. Chaboya, our Director of Student Activities, have extended their cooperation in helping the staff on numerous occasions.

My appreciation to all the wonderful people at Don Bosco Studios, to Mr. Steve Sanford, and Mr. Steve Clark, who spent several days at Leigh taking pictures, and even more days working to develop and print the negatives and pictures.

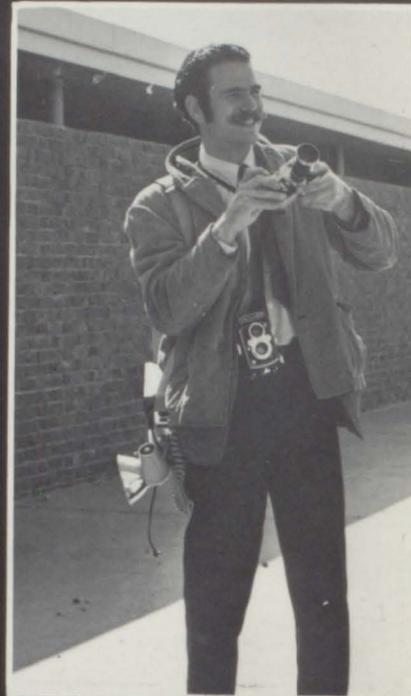

Mr. J. R. Myers, our representative from the American Yearbook Company, has served as our liaison between the company in Visalia, and our high school. Always ready to offer solutions to yearbook problems, his understanding has been greatly appreciated.

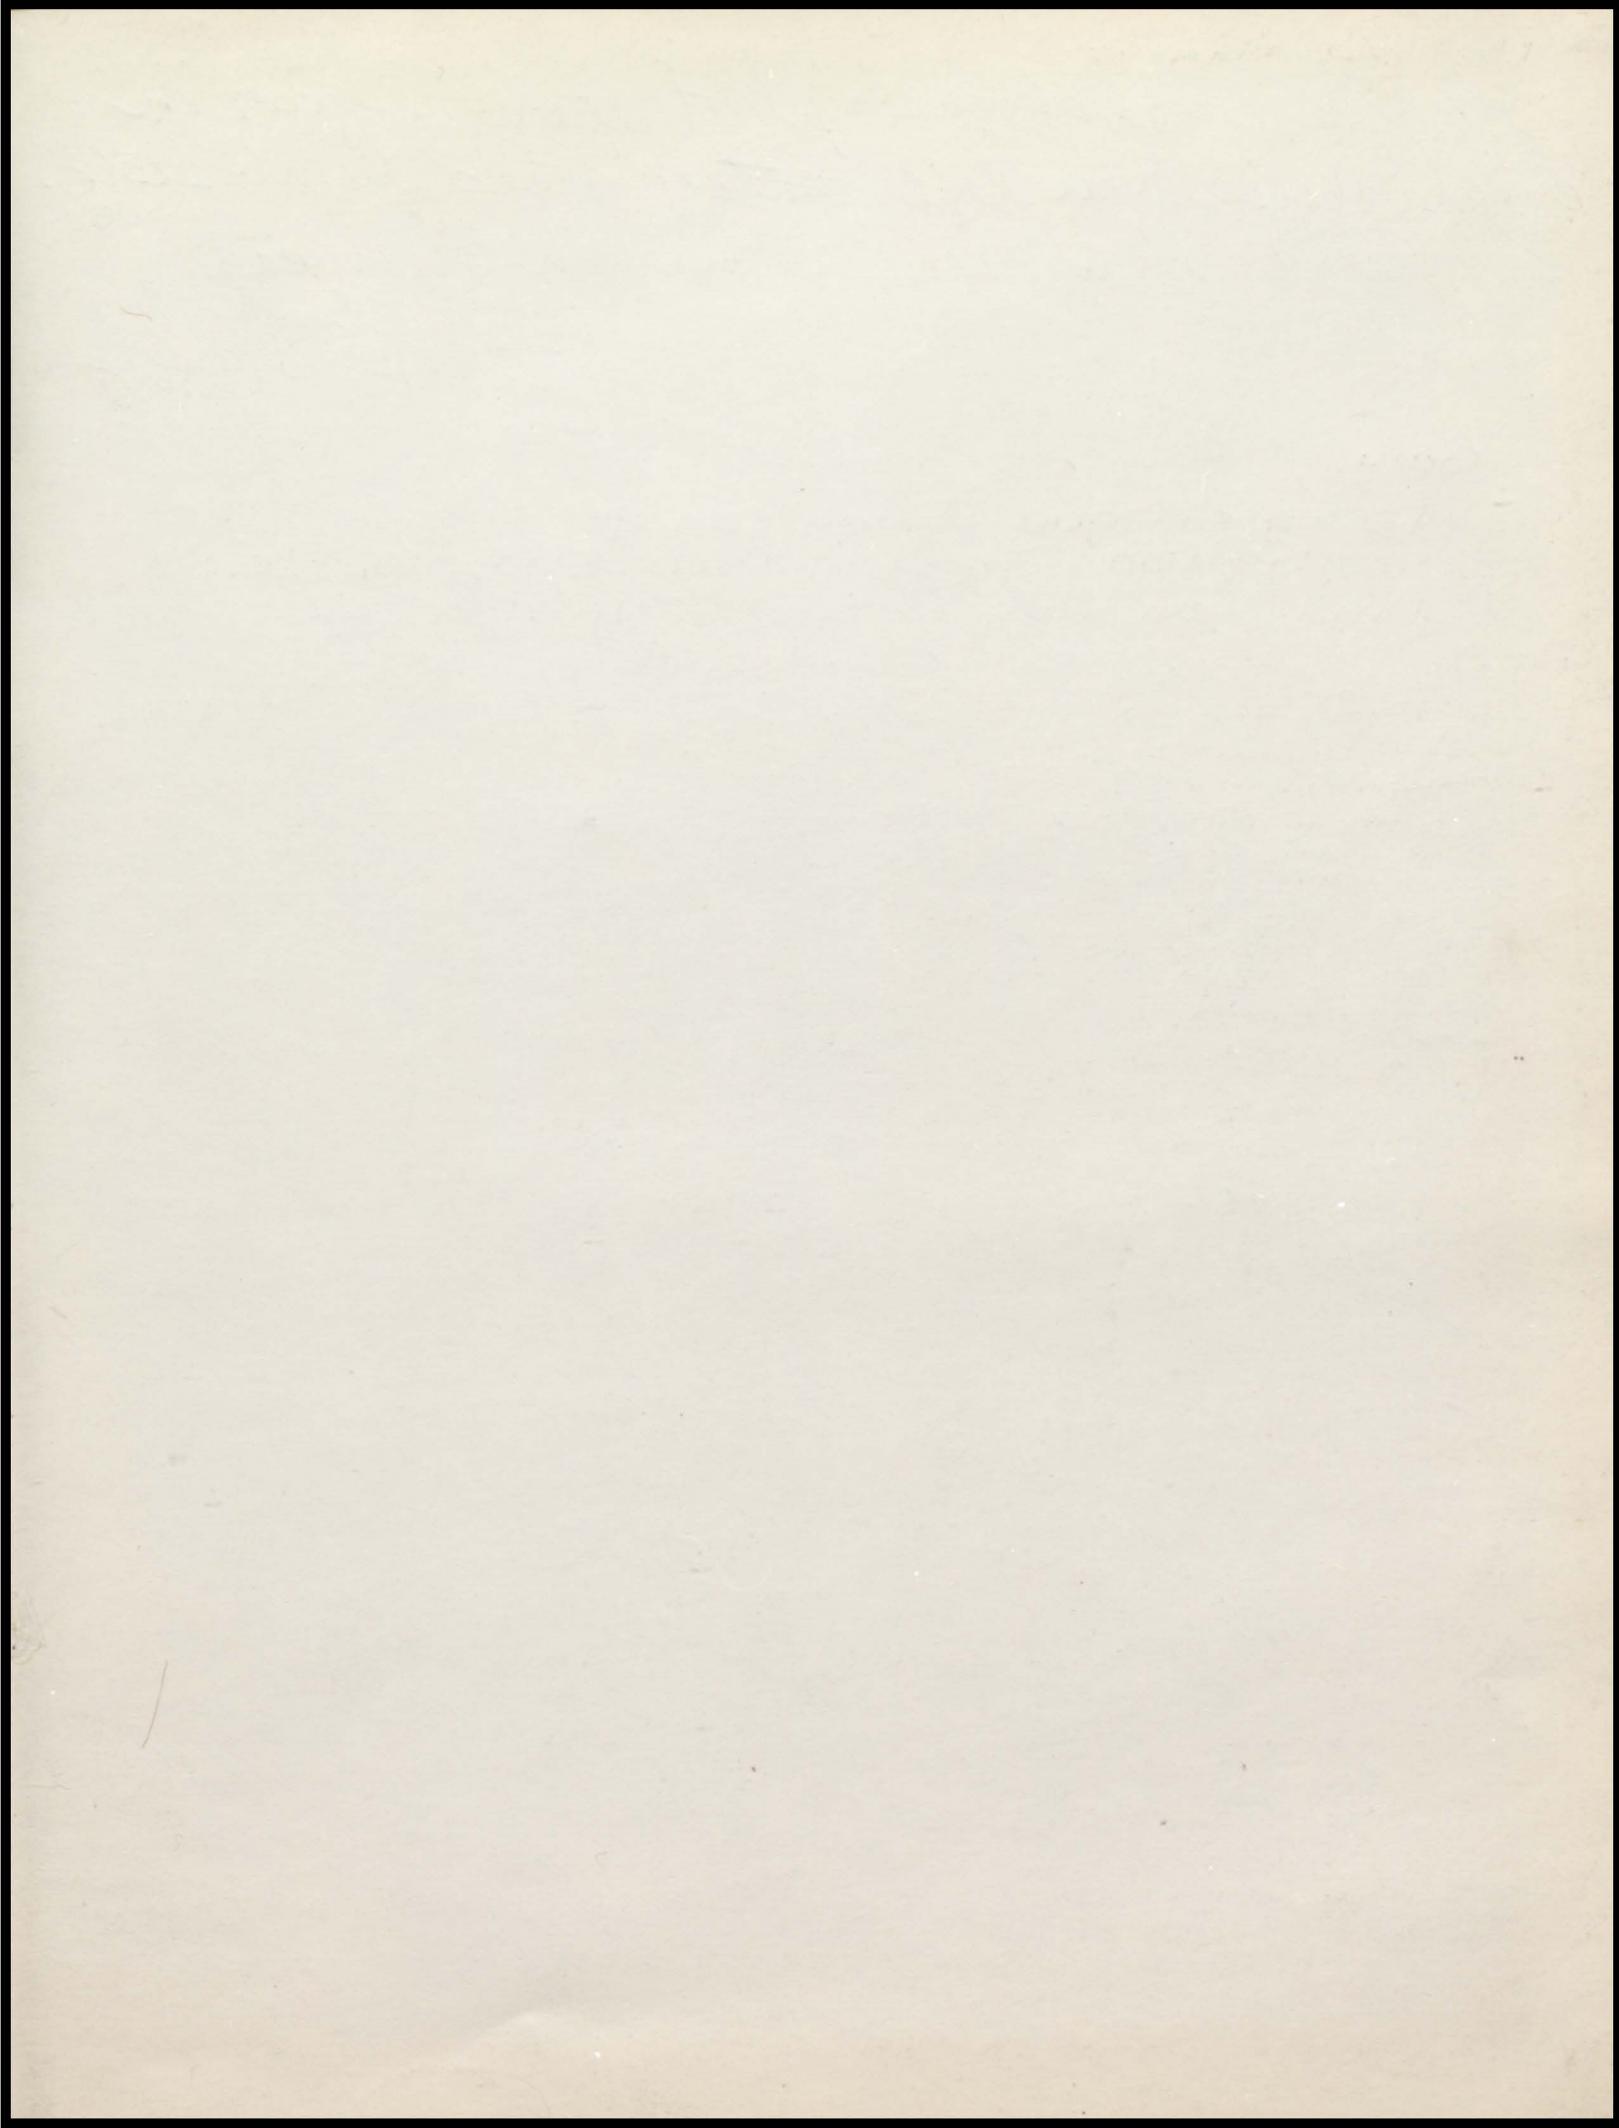

I would like to acknowledge Mr. William Shakespeare, whose play "As You Like It" was the source of our theme, and thank Bob Ballantyne for suggesting it.

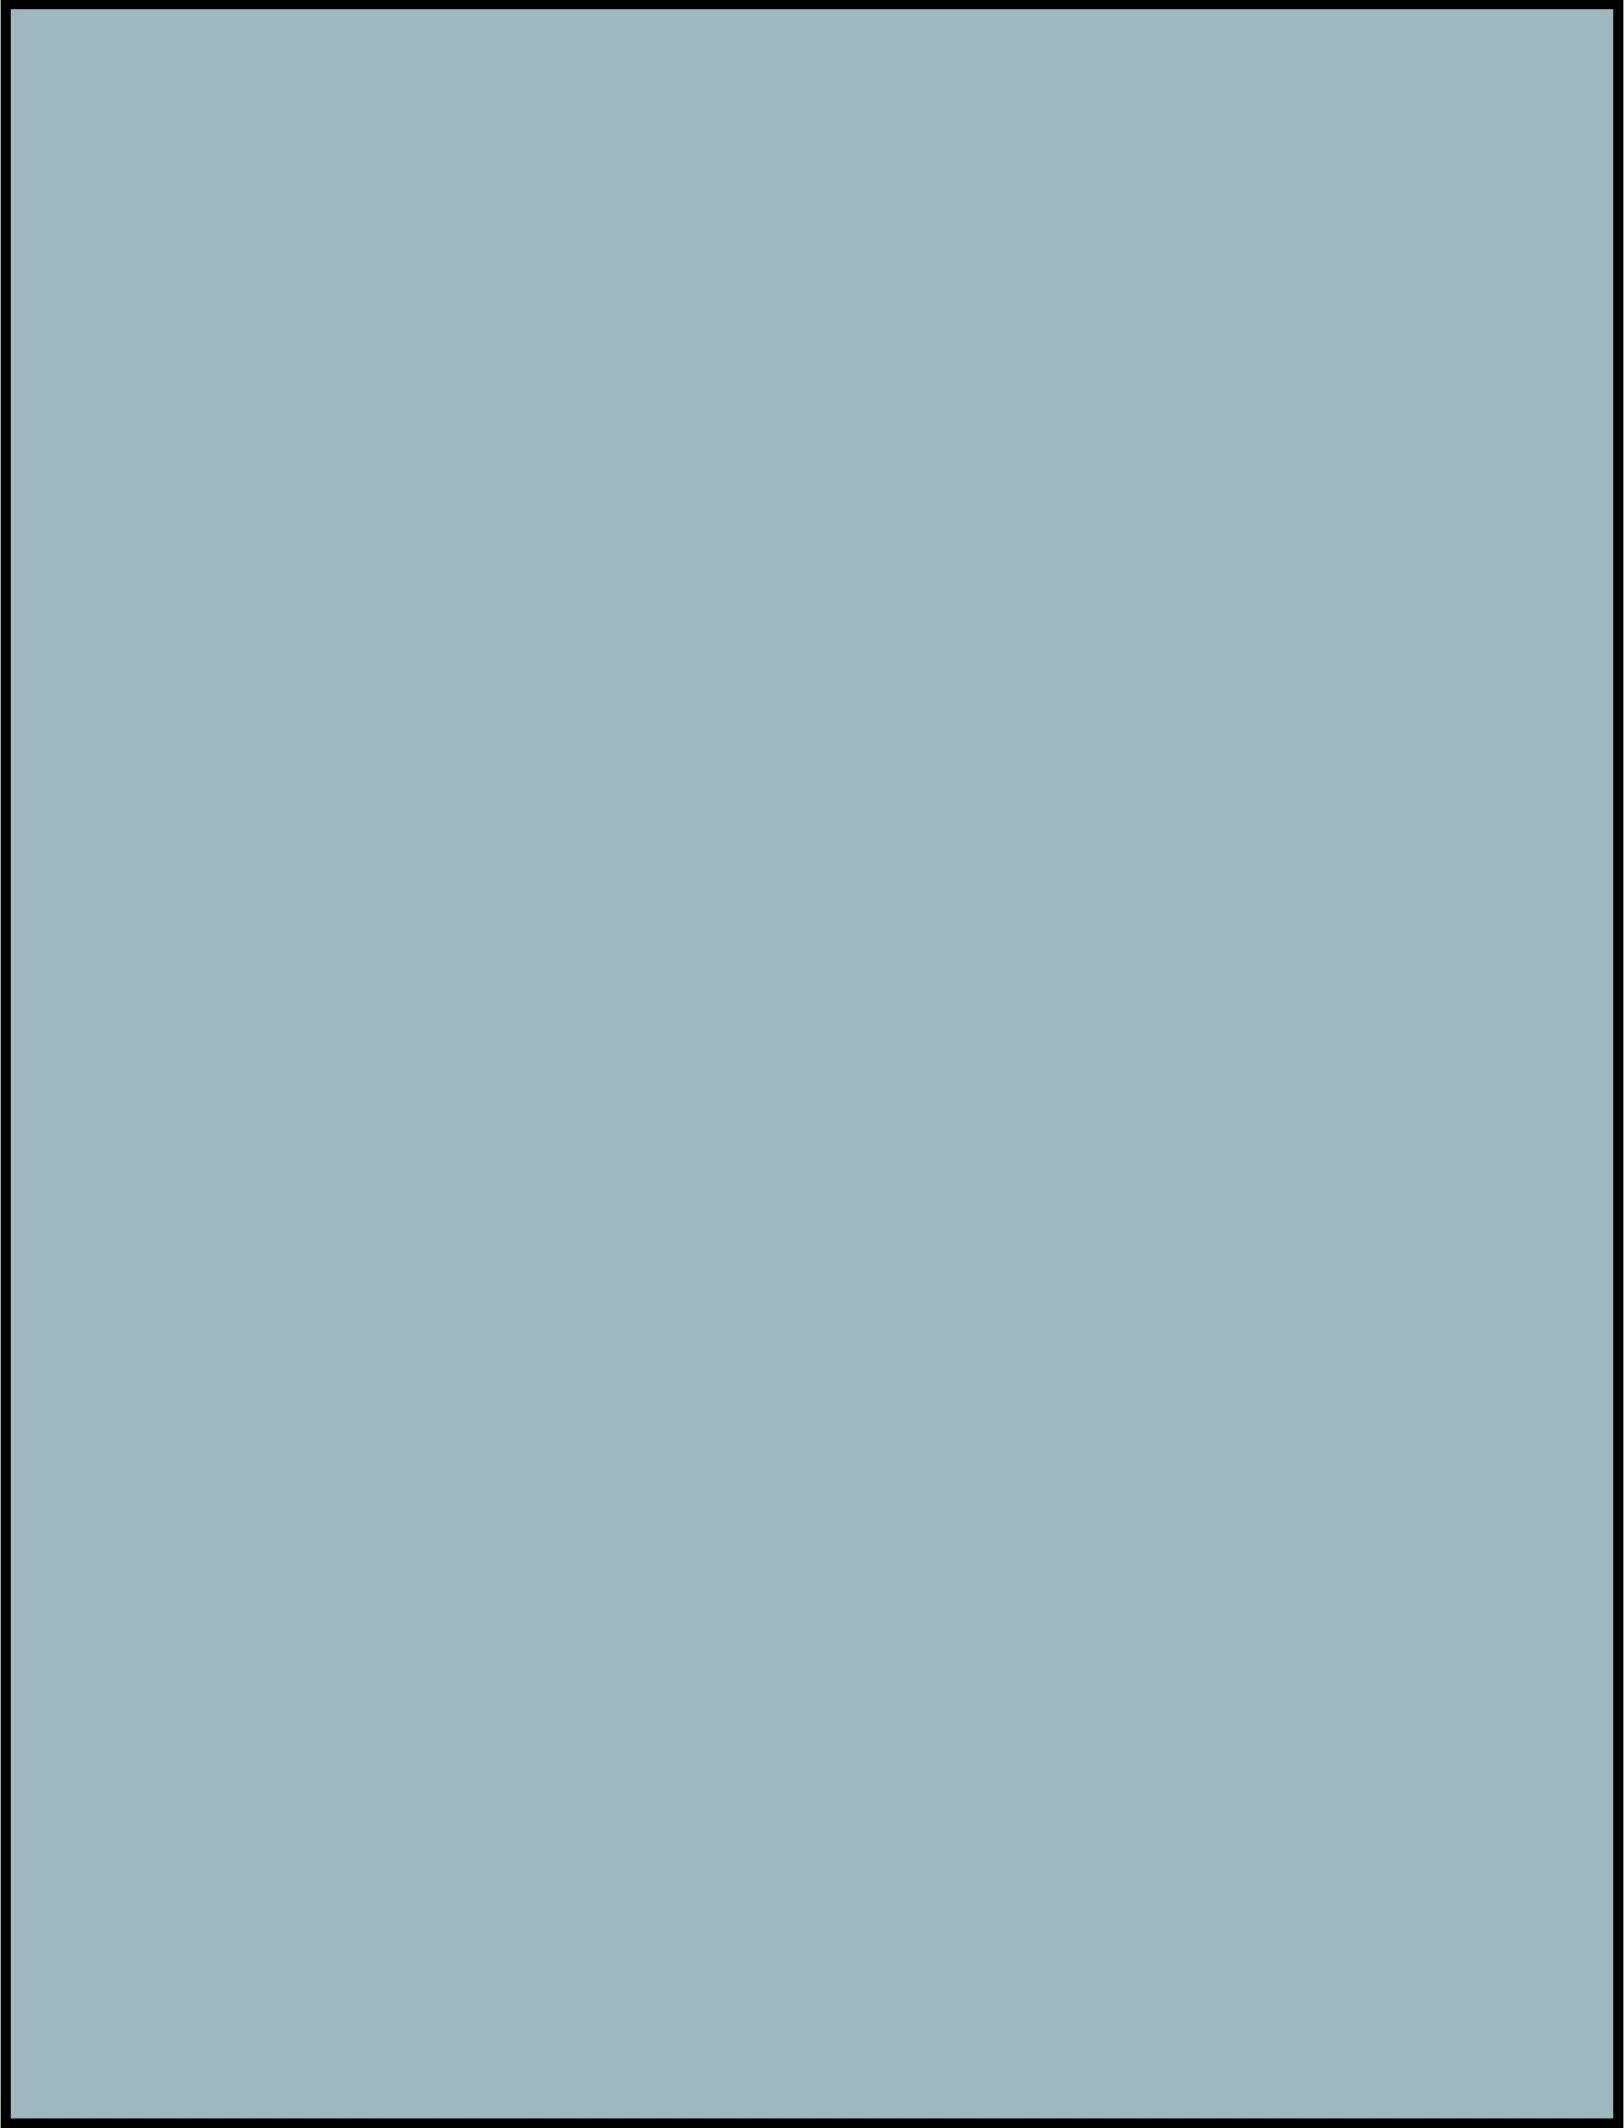

Finally, I would like to thank the thirty-seven staff members and editors. Often they found it necessary to work extra hours to meet a deadline, but the satisfaction of completing it made the loss of sleep seem less bothersome.

The school year has ended, and like this book become a finished publication. As we close the book on this chapter of our lives, we look toward an even better future. But never will we forget the happy memories of the past.

Debbie

The first part of the document discusses the importance of maintaining accurate records of all transactions. It emphasizes that every entry, no matter how small, should be recorded to ensure the integrity of the financial statements. This includes not only sales and purchases but also expenses and income. The text suggests that a systematic approach to record-keeping is essential for identifying trends and managing the business effectively.

Next, the document addresses the issue of inventory management. It explains that proper inventory control is crucial for determining the cost of goods sold and for preventing losses due to theft or spoilage. The author recommends regular physical counts and the use of perpetual inventory systems to keep track of stock levels in real-time.

The third section focuses on the classification of assets and liabilities. It provides guidance on how to distinguish between current and long-term assets and liabilities, which is important for calculating working capital and assessing the company's financial health. The text also touches upon the treatment of intangible assets and the impact of depreciation on fixed assets.

Finally, the document concludes by highlighting the role of the accounting cycle in the overall process. It outlines the ten steps of the cycle, from identifying transactions to preparing financial statements, and stresses the importance of each step in ensuring that the books are balanced and the information is reliable.
